'The Giant Killer' Has Bad Ankle; Says He Will Win Anyhow.

BATTLERS READY FOR BOXING SHOW

RD comes from Fort Bling that World comes from Fort Bins that Nick Gundy, who is to face Tum-my Nelson Wednesday night in the main event at the Studerlum, has received an lujury to the right ankle road work and getting his wind up to the usual notch. Strgt. Anthony Taff, trundy's manager, says that the tojury is a minor one and will not heep Nick from appearing. More than that," states Taff, "Gundy will not only be able to enter the ring, but will be able to win."

Nate Goodwie, manager of Toning Name asked about injury to Gundy's and Manager about injury to Gundy's and Manager about injury and that Toming was fit and ready to defeat Gundy in good shape. That injury staff is old, said Goodwin, 'and Goo't fool anyledy. I den't say that Gundy is not injured, but Nelson is not injured, but Nelson is not injured, but Nelson is listery of the ring such reports have often floated out from training camps before battle. Boxers take two changes on such a story: One is to detwive the other fellow; the other leaves a loophole so that in case the alleged injured man is defeated became that he was not in condition. We know Gundy is a good man and Nelson is ready for him, ankles and the horse hospital diamond the horsemen sees that Gundy really has an taken were not so successful, losing her did not good until the last

Dempsey Knocks Fulton Out By Four Well Directed Blows; Jess Willard Seems Anxious For His

WHEN the goog tapped Saturday night at Harrisburg Park, N. J., Jack W Dompsey, champion heavyweight boxer of the world, sprang from his corner after Fred Folton and in just 24 seconds the grant Minnesota plastern had all hopes for the heavyweight knocked out his system. Dempsey shot a right to the heart, a left to the stomach, booked up to the head with the left and followed with a right awing to the jaw that settled the bout. Fred went down and didn't get up.

Jesa Willard, who is looking for a purse but who don't care so much about fighting for the love of it, says he would like to meet Dempsey. The public would like to see him meet Dempsey, too. When he does Dempsey will prove that Bob Fitzsiumous was right when he said: "The bigger they
